IMPATENTED ENTRANCE

CERCAGO, Jas. 18.—Hank O'Day, who falled as a big league manager at Cincinnati last season, has not yet made up his mind whether he'll go back to his old job as a National League umpire or cast his lot with the American League. Hank once worked for Johnson when the latter was president of the Western League and he feels inclined to umpire for him again. Tom Lynch, the National League President, had a talk with O'Day before he left for New York, and he was much surprised when he was obliged to part company with him without having his signed contract in his pocket. Hank says he'll let the baseball world know on Feb. I what he intends to do. He intimates there is a possibility that he won't umpire at all, but buy a block of stock in some minor league dlub and manage it as well.

look like a ping-peng trio, a bunch of husky up-State farmers wearing the colors of Cornell succeeded in nosing out a victory over the Columbia basketball five at the local university gymnasium to the tune of 19 to 13.

The Ithacans did not play a parlor game by any means, and were out for red corpuscles every minute. An array of old-time rush movements, side-arm and elbow jabs, face masseaging and Gotch-like grapples kept the crowd breathless and undecided whether to cheer or hiss such a rough style of piay. Several times when a Columbia man got the ball in line for a basket shot he was promptly treated to a mild series of shoves until he landed by sheer force out of bounds.

Roberts, the Blue and White centre, was injured in the first half and had
